

THEIR LOSS THEIR BRAVADO

Morris and Murray Weaken as They Realize Certainty of Their Fate.

CANNOT CONNECT THEM WITH LAYTON SHOOTING

Officers Believe Men Were in Ogden When Lavender
Was Wounded.

J. J. Morris and John Murray, the murderous thugs, are beginning to lose their air of bravado, and it is believed that it only is a question of a short time when they will break down entirely and begin to beg for mercy.

Murray, the rougher and tougher of the two men, is becoming more tractable and when he was informed that he would not be prosecuted for the murder of Walter Axtell, who was killed by Morris in his mad attempt to escape after the Uncle Sam pawnshop holdup, he actually smiled.

Morris, who murdered Axtell and wounded two other men, also is weakening. Morris realizes that the authorities have a clear case of murder in the first degree against him and that it will only be a short time until he will pay the penalty of his misdeeds.

Both Morris and Murray strenuously deny that they had anything to do with the shooting of Deputy Sheriff William Lavender at Layton on the early morning of May 4. Discussing the matter with Sheriff Sharp, the men told the sheriff that they were at the Helena hotel in Ogden on the nights of May 2 and 3, and were at the Den ver hotel on the night of May 4. In order to satisfy himself on this point the sheriff went to Ogden yesterday and made a thorough investigation. At its conclusion he was convinced that whatever other crimes the men may be guilty of, they had nothing to do personally with the shooting of Lavender.

Sheriff Harris of Davis county also had a conference with the holdups yesterday and he, too, is practically convinced that neither Morris nor Murray were at Layton in person. It is the general belief, however, that the men are members of a gang and that they may be able to throw light upon the Layton affair.

There is but little question in the minds of the officers that Morris and Murray are ex-convicts and efforts are now being made to obtain their records.

The petition which was being circulated some days ago for presentation to the Third district court, urging a speedy hearing and the infliction of the maximum punishment in the cases has not been presented and probably will not be for obvious reasons.

SQUIRE COOP PROPOSES BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

Actuated by a desire to give tangible recognition of the bravery of Joseph Walter Axtell, who was shot and killed by one of the murderous pawnshop robbers Tuesday afternoon, and to aid the aged father and mother, brother and sister of the dead man, who have been deprived of their principal means of support by Mr. Axtell's death, Prof. Squire Coop, head of the music department of the University of Utah, has tendered the services of that organization for a benefit performance of "The Mount of Olives," the proceeds to be given to the family.

It is proposed that the performance be given not later than next Sunday, at one of the local theaters. The only condition named by Prof. Coop is that the theater be given free of charge, and that the services and all expenses be met by donations.

Steps were taken to make these arrangements Friday, and if the performance can be given a substantial sum should be raised and be given to the family of the unfortunate man.

THREE DEATHS IN FAMILY WITHIN SINGLE WEEK

Thomas S. Snarr died at his home, 425 West Sixth South street, yesterday at the age of 61 years, at the time of his death the body of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alice Elizabeth Snarr, was lying in state at the home of his son, 933 Washington street, and his little grandchild was buried only a few days before, she having died last Tuesday.

The casket of Mrs. Snarr will be open between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock today at the home, 933 Washington street, and funeral services will be held there at noon. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the body will be sent to Logan for burial. Funeral arrangements for Mr. Snarr have not been completed.

UTAH KEEPERS IN LIMELIGHT

State Is to Be Well Represented at the Omaha
Land Show.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE IS SUPPORTING PROJECT

Commercial Clubs of Many Cities Are to Be Asked to Assist.

Utah will be represented in the Omaha land show next October with the Utah Development league back of the exhibit. According to the interest being taken by the league through the executive committee the exhibit undoubtedly will be the most comprehensive the state ever has offered at land shows. The determination to make the most excellent showing possible comes from a general feeling that untold benefits have come to the state from the land show in the last year at which the state made exhibits of its resources.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Utah Development league Friday afternoon at the Commercial club definite action was taken in support of the land show next fall. The decision on the part of the committee to place the league back of the project insures a general exhibit from every part of the state. In the land shows at Chicago, Omaha and Los Angeles the exhibits were not representative of the entire state on account of the few counties that participated in collecting exhibits. When the land show opens at Omaha in October every county in the state will be represented in the Utah exhibit.

League Getting Busy.

The Development league, through the commercial clubs of over fifty towns and cities of the state, will be able to collect a general exhibit. The league will finance the exhibit and for that purpose it was proposed at the meeting to raise $1500 for the show. With strong financial backing sufficient to build a fine exhibit, the league will be able to secure to arrange a display that will do credit in every way to the vast resources of the state. Land products will be shown prominently in the display, as the show comes at a time of year when fruits and vegetables—in fact, all agricultural products—will be plentiful. Dry farming will take a prominent place in the exhibit, according to the plans as far as outlined thus far. In the show at Los Angeles the exhibit of dry land products attracted no end of attention and as a result the filings on land under the enlarged homestead act were increased. The league will take a prominent place in the show in January. Irrigated lands will be well advertised, together with bona fide irrigation projects.

To Solicit Subscriptions.

At the meeting of the executive committee Friday afternoon a number of representatives of land companies were present and entered into the discussion of the exhibit. Among them were George A. Snow, J. H. Nelson and Oscar L. Cox, who were named as a committee to solicit funds in Salt Lake county for the exhibit. The committee was instructed to communicate the action of the committee to all the commercial clubs affiliated with the Development league with the request that the various clubs assist in the raising of $1500 necessary to carry out the plans of the committee in taking part in the show.

To determine the flow of water in streams of the state available for irrigation, the committee appointed the following committee to confer with the state land board and Governor William Spry: R. S. Collett of Vernal, E. W. Dunn of Brigham City, C. R. Watson of Salt Lake. The information secured will be used in the publicity campaign to boost Utah's irrigable land.

POSTOFFICE INSPECTOR STRAIGHTENING TANGLE

Postoffice Inspector R. E. Nelson has been working for some time separating and sorting the mail that was soaked with water in the wreck on the Salt Lake Route near Akin a week ago. All of the registered mail has been accounted for, but there are some valuable packages, letters, papers, money and two watches that cannot be identified. They have been placed in a box with no name attached or with the name obliterated by the water, and there is no way in which to find the owners except by the owner making inquiry.

This mixed assortment of mail will be sent to Denver where it will be in charge of the inspector at the city for about a month. Inquiry should be made there. After about a month in Denver the mail will be sent to Salt Lake office at Washington, D. C.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Grand Lodge to Elect Officers and Transact Other Business.

The grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Utah, will convene next Tuesday afternoon at 10 o'clock for an annual session. The meeting will close the second day. Officers are to be elected and other matters of importance and interest to the order in Utah will be considered. The grand lodge is made up of about twenty-one subordinate lodges, with sixty representatives. The lodge in charge of E. O. Leatherwood, grand chancellor. Business sessions will be held in the Linden hotel. The grand lodge of the Pythian Sisters will meet at the same time.

Representatives to the grand lodge have been named by the Salt Lake lodges and preparations have been completed for the entertainment of the visiting representatives. Reports from the subordinate lodges of the state show that Pythianism has passed a successful year. Reports from the various departments of the order will be a part of the work to be considered in the session.

COUNTY ATTORNEY ISSUES COMPLAINTS

Two assault charges have been made in complaints issued by the county attorney's office. Grace Turner accuses J. S. Turner of threatening to assault, and D. H. Lloyd charges John Soderberg with assault and battery. Gaspar Gagliotti and Louis Gagliotti are accused of fishing in the Jordan river without the formality of taking out a license. Mary Benjamin says John Anderson disturbed the peace by using improper language.

Name New Officers for Literary Club

MRS. E. B. CRITCHLOW.

Mrs. E. B. Critchlow Elected President; Proceed at Once With New Clubhouse

President—Mrs. E. B. Critchlow.
First vice president—Mrs. C. W. Watson.
Second vice president—Mrs. R. W. Fisher.
Recording secretary—Mrs. M. L. Oglesby.
Corresponding secretary—Mrs. W. T. Benson.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. O. S. Nelden.
Librarian—Mrs. Addison Cain.
Critic—Mrs. W. H. Brame.
Historian—Mrs. H. K. Klingender.
Directors—Mrs. Edward Merrill, Mrs. L. C. Miller and Mrs. W. H. Bantz.

The Ladies' Literary club, in its annual meeting Friday afternoon, held an election of officers for the ensuing year, and decided at once to begin building the new clubhouse on South Temple between Eighth and Ninth East streets. The finance committee reported $11,000 for the money which will be used to build the new clubhouse, which is to cost $22,500. The committee also announced that satisfactory arrangements could be made to borrow the remainder of the money which will be used to complete the desired amount. The pledges have been made in the form of interest bearing bonds. It was suggested to change the bonds to notes, but the matter was left to the discretion of the club. The committee was instructed to continue to raise funds for the clubhouse during the summer, in the manner deemed the most feasible.

Ware & Treganza were adopted some time ago. The plans call for a handsome building, modern in every particular, and especially adapted to the uses of the club and for the purpose of renting for large entertainments.

At the close of the meeting, the retiring president, Mrs. W. R. Hutchinson, turned over the keys to Mrs. Critchlow, with a graceful little speech, in which she thanked the club for its co-operation and kind words during her term of office. In accepting the gavel, Mrs. Critchlow said that she had not sought the office, but since she had been honored by election, she would not shrink any of its duties, but would give her best efforts to the club the coming year. She strongly urged the members to begin working on the new clubhouse.

Standing committees for the coming year will be named at a meeting of the club to be held Friday afternoon. The important committees at this time are the building and the finance committees. It is not likely that the members of the standing committees will be materially changed. The new board of directors will be composed of the three members chosen Friday and the holdovers. Three directors are elected each year to serve for a term of two years.

The club will have no more general meetings until next September.

CITY AND VICINITY

LEAGUE DOING GREAT WORK

Annual Convention of Epworth Organization Opens in the City.

DELEGATES ARE PRESENT FROM VARIOUS POINTS

Reports Indicate That the Leaguers Are Active in This State.

Covering a wide range, and taking in many important phases of the work, the opening session of the first annual Utah state convention of the Epworth league held at the Hill Methodist church last night was an enthusiastic affair. The services Friday evening began at 7:30 o'clock with a large audience present. The Rev. Dr. F. E. Short of the First Methodist church led the singing following which he occupied the pulpit for thirty minutes, during which time he gave a brief synopsis of the Epworth league work in Utah and spoke encouragingly of the good results which have been obtained here.

The Rev. Dr. Short said that this is the twenty-second anniversary of the Epworth league, which was organized in 1889. Its growth has been phenomenal, and this is evidenced by the fact that there are 20,432 chapters. "The purpose of the Epworth league," the Rev. Dr. Short said, "is to promote intelligent and vital piety and incidentally to furnish the means of training young manhood and womanhood."

A letter at this juncture was read from Bishop William A. Quayle, D. D., LL. D., president of the Epworth league, in which the writer expressed gratification over the growth of the league of Utah in making conventions an annual affair, and gave his opinion that Utah is rapidly advancing in a religious sense.

Provo Minister Talks.

The Rev. Fred O. Kelley of Provo delivered an exceedingly strong address dealing largely with the social side of the church. Mr. Kelley explained that many of the parishes nowadays are getting into the worldliness of the world, and people of today should live the Christ life and adhere more strictly to the teaching of the scripture and not allow themselves to be interfered with by the work of the world. "That we must have a social side of the church was the declaration of the Rev. Kelley. He emphasized the fact that constant stability is a fundamental which really counts, and not that sort of greetings which is merely a form of words. You shake hands with a member of your church do it with vim; make the handshake grip which comes from the heart," said the Rev. Mr. Kelley in closing.

"The real need of the Epworth league is religion," the Rev. F. E. Short of Ogden said at the beginning of his address. "Get that and the success of the league is assured." The Rev. Mr. Fisher contended that the church should put into the league the real energetic younger membership of the churches.

Christian Stewardship.

The Rev. E. C. Moore, discussed "Christian Stewardship" in an entertaining and instructive manner. The music furnished during the evening was excellent. The Epworth league of the Second Methodist church of Provo, Utah, presented a program which was well received. An informal reception was served at the church following the program, which consisted of punch and other refreshments.

Delegates are present from Ogden, Provo, Payson, Midvale, Milford, Lark, Mercur and other points.

EAGLES CLUB OUTING AT SALT LAKE ENJOYABLE

A large crowd enjoyed the outing of the Eagles club to Saltair Friday afternoon. The band of over thirty pieces furnished the music for the occasion. An interesting feature of the day's entertainment was a initiation ceremony, in which several of the new members of the club participated. A dress display was given by the members of the team, and the evening was closed with a social gathering. Several Swedish songs were given by a male quartette, which was well received by the crowd during intermission of dancing.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED IN ROBINSON'S CASE

Supreme Court Hands Down
Opinion in Liquor Selling Action.

The supreme court handed down an opinion Friday affirming the judgment of the Third district court in the case of the City vs. H. F. Robinson, appellant, in which Robinson was convicted of violating the liquor ordinance.

Robinson was convicted of disposing of liquor at 12:25 o'clock midnight, contrary to the city ordinance closing the saloons from 12 o'clock to 6 o'clock the following morning. The appeal, however, was taken on the grounds that 12 o'clock midnight referred to in the city ordinance meant 12 o'clock midnight solar time and not mean solar time, and that the law referred to is 27 minutes and 36 seconds faster than standard time, and the liquor was, therefore, sold before 12 o'clock midnight.

The supreme court, however, holds that as standard time is the time used for all other purposes of Salt Lake City, that what is undoubtedly meant in the city ordinance.

THIRD COMPLAINT IN DAMAGE SUIT FILED

Ann Brown began suit in the Third district court Friday afternoon against the Utah Light & Railway company to recover $5000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained when the Fairgrounds street car, on October 17 of last year, ran into a heavily loaded lumber wagon at the intersection of First South and Second West streets. This is the third action of its kind that Mrs. Brown has filed, the two previous suits being dismissed. The second action was dismissed recently.

Mrs. Brown charges the company with negligence and running its cars at an unlawful rate of speed.

TOWNSITE OF LORAIN IN CONTENTION

Prior Rights of Claimants Are Issues in Dispute in the Land Office.

John Root and E. L. Carter each want to own the entire town of Lorain. They do not know it, but each claims that the town belongs to him. The town isn't a metropolis yet, but its chances along that line seem to be good. And when this wild land made possible under the enlarged homestead act the two men in question filed on it. Both claim priority of right, and the contest promises to be a close one.

The whole trouble arose over the fact that those who laid out the town did not make the tract filed on the records of the United States land office. The land was thus left open for anyone to file on it, and the contest promises to be a close one.

Judge Joshua Greenwood had asked that the applications of the men be set aside because the people of Lorain claim property rights there and desire to establish a permanent townsite. The case may be appealed to the general land office at Washington, D. C.

The land that is being contested comprises only forty acres, but the fact that it is to be made the terminal point of the new Utah & Grand Canyon railroad makes it worth striving for.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MARTYR AXTELL

Minister Makes Plea for Speedy Action, Consistent With Justice.

Joseph Walter Axtell, the only support of his aged mother and brothers and sisters, who was shot down and killed by a murderer while on his way to work last Tuesday evening, was buried Friday from the undertaking rooms of O'Donnell & Co., 289 South West Temple street, at 2 o'clock. At the chapel many friends of the deceased were present, and the face of the martyr who sacrificed his life for law and order. The floral offerings were numerous.

The services were conducted by the Rev. P. A. Simpkin of the Phillips Congregational church. Mr. Simpkin paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the martyr. "Even in his outgoing," said Mr. Simpkin, "there is a lesson for us, the hand stretched out to help law, to prevent harm, was thrust out with no thought of self, and when it was withdrawn it held the white flower of death. It is a sad story, but it is a story of development, of advance. The price of help and service is always one of self-sacrifice and sacrifice."

"By his quiet form of life, to stand, to think not in anger, but sorrow, of the wickedness of the slayer. It is folly to let any note of the deed be voiced here. But surely there should be a voice dwelling on the sacredness of human life, the wickedness of such deeds and the manifold opportunities to do right and firmly for the speediest action, consistent with full justice, that the courts can realize."

An unpunished murder is an open door to such crimes as have shocked us. Without bitter anger, the occasion demands that quiet justice move to find for his sake, for the sake of that great society wronged in this terrible deed, whose protection lies largely in the justice of the law.

"And as we lay him to the dreamless sleep under the scented turf, let us think how life's little day yields us an ever lasting opportunity to live up to life's splendid destiny of unselfishness, of sympathy and love are the curtain falls swiftly for us also."

The funeral was largely attended and the pall-bearers were Frank Cummings, Elmer Riches, Oscar Halline, George Richards, Charles F. Faggs and Albert Johnson. Interment was at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

ELKS ARE PLANNING FLAG DAY CELEBRATION

The Salt Lake Elks are planning an elaborate celebration of flag day on June 14. The celebration will be a day of Elks and an annual custom of the Elks to hold a public meeting on each flag day to make a public pledge of allegiance to the members of the emblem of their country. Beautiful ritualistic ceremonies will be given by the Elks, and the parade through the streets is also in contemplation. The public observance of the custom will be made either in the lodge room at the Elks home or at one of the theaters.

FREEDOM IS GIVEN TO HAPPY WIVES

Three Interlocutory and Four Final Decrees Granted by Court.

Three interlocutory decrees and four final decrees were granted by Judge C. W. Morse at the weekly divorce sessions Friday. On the grounds of failure to provide, Claudia Pawson was granted a decree of divorce from William A. Pawson, and Lillie May Jenkins was granted a decree of divorce from Richard W. Jenkins. Ruby F. Brown was given a decree of divorce from Earl Austin Brown on the grounds of desertion. She was also allowed $15 a month alimony for the support of the child. The following final decrees were granted: Vilato L. Brown from William A. Benson, Frances Cowles from Charles Cowles and Johnson Baird from Hyrum S. Baird.

MISS THEO. SWAN WINS DISTINCTION AT VASSAR

OLD MINER CROSSES

William McHale, a Known Prospector,
in Arizona.

ACCUMULATED FORTUNE BUT PREFERRED TO

For Many Years He Milford His Home
quarters.

William McHale, soldier, miner and poet, one of the thousands who have made the western hills and deserts dead, passing away as he is a generation, in his beloved Word reached Salt Lake.

Flourishing, Pinal county, mining section of the territory, leads and water have well known to him as any of Utah, and Utah has been quarters for many years as the tails of his death have received.

William McHale was born in Pa., sixty-four years of age, a veteran of the Civil war, served in the Fifth Pennsylvania. His only relative in the U. S. is a son, M. W. McHale. Mrs. McHale, nee Parlee, resides in Ogden, Utah. Two sons survive, Pennsylvania, and two in California.

Call of the Wild.

Few men ever called the deserts their office and as with as wide a circle of friends in crowded cities as William McHale, Milford, Utah, was his main operating place, which was a familiar sight to him as any of Utah, and Utah has been quarters for many years as the tails of his death have received.

On his long and frequent trips throughout the west, McHale, while hours of idleness in writing the verses he composed, the sagebrush camp fire, mountains and desolate cave life all about him, and he thought he had written by hand a verse for nearly any scene, and through the hall strain typical of the man whose tent and grub always at the disposal of he might meet on the trail.

Last Visit to Lake.

Not long ago McHale was in Lake. He had sold some properties, and had a comfortable little fortune, even plans he might have soon dispelled as the art of civilization began to man of nature.

"I'm tired of it, this town," he said. "I want to the hills. I am going to gather together my little burros and strike out into brush territory again. I want to live in the hills, and others see it, but not I. Give me my burros, plenty beans and flour, with plenty on all sides of me, and your asphalt streets and you. It was certainly the call of the wild."

Extensive Claim Owed.

McHale was an extensive owner throughout the west, the only one in which a properties can be secured, executor or administrator, write each county recorder in Arizona, Nevada and California. He has sold many of claims, among them the King pany's lines of Beaver county, the owner of the ground that the Newhouse or Cactus driven, and this he donated to a park.

McHale was known to the all the surroundings of his life, completing the poem of a cleanly and doubtless with which never left him.

WILLARD HAMER FUNERAL TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Arrangements were completed for the funeral of Willard Hamer, who died Thursday afternoon of heart failure, at his home, 127 East Second street. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Baptist church. Interment will be in the cemetery.

An order was issued by Judge C. W. Morse at the weekly divorce sessions Friday, appointing Attorneys George C. Buckle and William A. Pawson as a committee to draft the Bar association on the Hamer.

FRACTURE OF SKULL FATAL FOR NEGRO

W. L. Dudley, a negro, died day morning at St. Mark's hospital of a fractured skull, the result of a fractured skull, being arrested on the charge of being drunk and being suddenly attacked and falling to the floor, striking his head against a bench. He died unconsciousness from the time he was taken to the hospital.

The body was taken to St. Mark's hospital, where it was being kept for burial. The body was being kept for burial. The body was being kept for burial.

Will Filed for Probate.

Mrs. Christina Linblad filed in the probate division of the district court Friday afternoon a petition for probate of the estate of P. Linblad, who died February 10 of last year. Mrs. Linblad is the widow of the deceased man, and is the beneficiary of the estate.
